Winemaking process

After a previous selection of the best plots, harvest began on September 28th with handpicking in small crates (15 kg) and manual selection on the sorting table, where all the bunches that didn't comply with the requested standards of ripeness, health and general aspect were thrown away. After a maceration of 12 days and the subsequent settling, the malolactic fermentation as well as the ageing process were carried out in Hungarian, American and French oak during 9 months. The final blend was bottled in December
